Applying by the Deadlines

For federal aid, submit your application as early as possible, but no earlier than January 1, 2007. We must receive your application no later than June 30, 2008. Your college must have your correct, complete information by your last day of enrollment in the 2007-2008 school year.

For state or college aid, the deadline may be as early as January 2007. See the table to the right for state deadlines. You may also need to complete additional forms. Check with your high school guidance counselor or a Financial Aid Administrator at your college about state and college sources of student aid and deadlines.

If you are filing close to one of these deadlines, we recommend you file online at www.fafsa.ed.gov. This is the fastest and easiest way to apply for aid.

Using Your Tax Return

If you are supposed to file a 2006 federal income tax return, we recommend that you complete it before filling out this form. If you have not yet filed your return, you can still submit your FAFSA, but you must provide income and tax information. Once you file your tax return, correct any income or tax information that is different from what you initially submitted on your FAFSA.

Filling Out the FAFSA

Your answers on this form will be read electronically. Therefore:

- use black ink and fill in ovals completely:
- print clearly in CAPITAL letters and skip a box between words:
- report dollar amounts (such as $12,356.41) like this:

Mark an oval for each program from which you (or your spouse, if you are married) received benefits at any time during 2006.

If you are reporting parents’ information on this FAFSA, do not report benefits that your parents received on your behalf. Parents’ benefits should be reported in questions 75 through 79.

If you are not reporting parents’ information on the FAFSA, you are considered to have received benefits if:

- (1) you or your spouse received benefits directly or for the support of your children or other family members, or
- (2) if your or your spouse’s income was used in determining eligibility for the benefit.

Do not include benefits if another family member, such as a grandparent or uncle, received direct benefits based on his or her own financial situation (for example, SSI).

In general, a person is eligible to file a 1040A or 1040EZ if he or she makes less than $100,000, does not itemize deductions, does not receive income from his or her own business or farm, and does not receive alimony. A person is not eligible to file a 1040A or 1040EZ if he or she itemizes deductions, receives self-employment income or alimony, or is required to file Schedule D for capital gains. If you filed a 1040 only to claim Hope or Lifetime Learning credits, and you would have otherwise been eligible for a 1040A or 1040EZ, you should answer “Yes” to this question.

and 85 (page 3) — Notes for those who filed a 1040EZ

On the 1040EZ, if a person checked either the “you” or “spouse” box on line 5, use EZ worksheet line E to determine the number of exemptions ($3,200 equals one exemption). If a person didn’t check either box on line 5, enter 01 if he or she is single, or 02 if he or she is married.

What is the FAFSA?

Why fill out a FAFSA?

The FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) is the first step in the financial aid process. You use it to apply for federal student financial aid, such as grants, loans and work-study. In addition, most states and schools use information from the FAFSA to award non-federal aid.

Why all the questions?

We enter your responses to the FAFSA questions into a formula from the Higher Education Act of 1965, as amended. The result is your Expected Family Contribution, or EFC. The EFC measures your family's financial strength. It is used to determine your eligibility for federal student aid. Your state and the schools you list may also use some of your responses. They will determine if you may be eligible for school or state aid, in addition to federal aid.

How do I find out what my EFC is?

We will send you a report called a Student Aid Report, or SAR, through the mail or the Internet. The SAR lists the information you reported on your FAFSA and will tell you your EFC. It is important to review your SAR when you receive it. Make sure all of your information is correct. Make any necessary changes or provide additional information.

How much aid do I get?

Your EFC, along with the rest of your FAFSA information, is made available to all the schools you list in Step Six of the FAFSA. The schools use your EFC to prepare a financial aid package to help you meet your financial need. Financial need is the difference between your EFC and your school's cost of attendance (which can include living expenses), as determined by the school. If you or your family have special circumstances that should be taken into account, contact your school's financial aid office. Some examples of special circumstances are: unusual medical or dental expenses or a large change in income from last year to this year.

When do I get the aid?

Any financial aid you are eligible to receive will be paid to you through your school. Typically, your school will first use the aid to pay tuition, fees, and room and board (if provided by the school). Any remaining aid is paid to you for your other educational expenses.

If you are eligible for a Federal Pell Grant, you may receive it from only one school for the same period of enrollment.

How can I add more schools to my FAFSA?

There are two ways that you can have your FAFSA information sent to more than four schools. If you have a PIN, wait until your FAFSA has been processed and then go to www.fafsa.ed.gov. You can use the special link for adding schools that allows you to search for and select additional school codes. These schools will be added to your electronic FAFSA and will have access to your information. If you do not have a PIN, call 1-800-4-FED-AID (1-800-433-3243). You will need to know the four-digit Data Release Number (DRN) from your Student Aid Report (SAR), which is located at the top right corner of your paper or electronic SAR. The DRN, along with your name and Social Security number, verifies your identity which allows you to ask the customer service representative to add additional schools to your FAFSA.

Where can I get more information on student aid?

The best place for information about student financial aid is the financial aid office at the school you plan to attend. The Financial Aid Administrator can tell you about student aid available from your state, the school itself, and other sources.

You can also check out these resources:

- www.studentaid.ed.gov
- www.students.gov
- The Federal Student Aid Information Center at 1-800-4-FED-AID (1-800-433-3243). TTY users may call 1-800-730-8913.
- Your high school counselor's office
- Your local library's reference section

There may be information available from foundations, religious organizations, community organizations and civic groups, as well as organizations related to your field of interest, such as the American Medical Association or American Bar Association. Check with your parents' employers or unions to see if they award scholarships or have tuition payment plans.
